

COUNCILLOR DALE LAST

For more than 20 years, Dale has been a member of the Queensland Police Service, and prior to being elected as a Councillor, he held the position of Officer in Charge of the Townsville Police Division. His law-enforcement career has given him the opportunity to be part of many committees and community organisations with an interest in providing safety to residents in every day life and during times of emergency.

Dale was a regular contributor to the Townsville City Council Citi-safe Committee, the Aboriginal and Torres Strait Islander Community Justice Group and the Late Night Traders' Association.

Dale has been a resident of Townsville for seven years and during that time has been heavily involved in sport both as a participant and an administrator.
